

I AM THE SPIRIT OF THE ANTICHRIST

RICHARD R. SLOMON

DECEMBER 26, 1974

I am the spirit of the Antichrist.

You have drained my mind all through history. You have enslaved me and profited from my genius. You have lined the sewer of your spirit with the gold of my creation. You have tortured me, oppressed me, and forbidden me to think. You have promulgated the philosophy that I live for my brother, and used my guilt at the glory I saw in my Self to bind me to you.

It is over.

Your world is a nightmare. It contradicts the basic laws of our Universe; and the fantasies you weave vanish, when once I perceive the truth:

I exist for myself.

I will serve you no longer. Trade with me if you can; but for every precious idea you receive, you will pay.

I am the spirit of the Antichrist because I reject you and your slave philosophy, altruist-collectivism. I take the right of free men everywhere: the absolute and untrammelled right to my body, my mind, and everything they produce.

Tomorrow belongs to me. Altruism and collectivism are dead-end refuges for men bred for the gutter. While you whimper your needs from the mud, my aspirations are fixed on the stars.

I swear, by my life and by my love of it, to live my life for no other man, and to ask no man to live his life for me. You cannot claim me any longer. I am my own.

Live as you please, if you can. Stand in my way with deceit and I will denounce you. Stand in my way with force and I will destroy you.

I am the spirit of the Antichrist.

I AM.
